ANATOMY OF A TENDER ADVERT

Introduction: The tender Parts Of A Tender Advert:

advert is the key part of A typical tender advert is the opportunity phase of broadly divided into two the tendering process. It parts: the header and the informs the stakeholder body of the advert.

public in detail about current opportunities in the upstream Nigeria Oil and Gas Industry. Thus, if we agree that the opportunity phase is fundamental to the entire tendering process, we can posit that the tender advert is arguably the lynchpin of the entire tendering process.

Consequently, it is imperative that care be taken to ensure that the information contained in the tender advert is relevant and accurate to guide the vendor appropriately. Indeed, all tender adverts must conform to the approved template for ease of reference and for uniformity.

The Header: The header contains the NNPC logo to the top left corner and the logo of the JV or PSC partner to the right. Following immediately below is the name of the operator; the title of the tender opportunity, the NipeX tender number and the NCDMB number respectively on different consecutive lines.

The Body of the Tender Advert: This part is made up of six (6) components which include:

- * Introduction: This announces again the tender opportunity and states the duration of the contract.
- * Scope of Work: This gives a detailed breakdown of the work involved and the operator's expectations of the vendor(s).
